Surrounded by educational excellence

Education at the highest standards – from early learning to further education – is within easy reach of Brentford and the broader catchment has steadily grown a reputation for academic excellence.

In Brentford and Isleworth there are 10 schools rated 'Outstanding' by Ofsted.

For those in higher education, six exceptional universities are represented within neighbouring West London boroughs, including Brunel, Imperial College and the University of West London, and within easy reach by train from Brentford Station are world-leading institutions including King's College London, the London School of Economics and University College London.

Directly Connected to London

Within reach of The Brentford Project, you can escape the town and the country. Five motorways, the western arterial route out of London, National Rail, Underground and bus and cycle links can be accessed easily from home. Heathrow Airport is 15 minutes drive away, and networks of riverside pathways offer open air journeys on two feet or two wheels.
